 dena Intersection

Thomas Hartman Has Disastrous End to Trip Sunday Afternoon to Glendale

Thomas Hartman of Burbank was severely injured at about 4:30 Sunday afternoon when the machine he was driving was struck by a Pacific Electric car, the accident taking place at the intersection of Garden and Brand, Glendale. The automobile was carried a distance of 112 feet before the street car could be brought to a stop by Motorman J. E. Davis. Immediately after the accident a motorist who was passing, picked up Hartman and hurried him to the Glendale sanitarium, where it was found that in addition to a number of lesser injuries, he had suffered a fracture of the right elbow. Thomas Watson, who was riding with Hartman, was uninjured. The auto was badly smashed.

In another accident which occurred on Colorado street and Verdugo road at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Paul Bell of Los Angeles, suffered a broken leg and was taken to the Glendale sanitarium. In this accident the motorcycle and two automobiles figured. The auto was driven by Kiyoshi Hirami of Los Angeles, and J. W. Howard, 139 Acacia avenue, Eagle Rock. All three machines were slightly damaged, but the drivers of the two automobiles escaped injuries. Automobiles belonging to Laurence A. Richards, 411 South Pacific and N. E. Goulet of Los Angeles, collided at the corner of Brand and Colorado, Sunday morning at 7:30 o'clock. Little damage was done. Arthur R. Cressey, 512 Vine street, and W. E. Hibbard, 154 South Brand boulevard, were driving automobiles that came together on Vine street between Colorado and Central at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. No one was injured. Trifling damage was done when machine piloted by Dr. H. G. Westphal, 337 North Louise street, and Mr. Brawley, 403 East Broadway, came together at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, the accident taking place at the corner of Isabel and Wilson.

DR. T. P. NOEHLE OF KENOSHA, IS HERE

A fair illustration of the lure of Glendale is afforded by the case of Dr. Thos. P. Noehle of Kenosha, Wis., who visited Glendale last summer after having received literature sent out by the chamber of commerce and exchanged some correspondence with the chamber. He was so impressed with this city that on his return to Kenosha, he sold out his dental practice, disposed of his home, shipped his furniture, put his wife and children into an auto and came overland, arriving last week. He has already engaged an office in the new Monarch block and will be ready for patients in dentistry in a few days. He is temporarily located at the Brand hotel until he secures a satisfactory residence. Secretaries Rhoades and Sanders of the chamber of commerce say Dr. Noehle is a typical result of the work the chamber is doing in attracting residents to the city.

FATHER O'NEILL ASKS BUDGET FOR SCHOOL

Announces Subscriptions
 Will Supplant Fairs and Other Collecting Activities

Discussing the budget of the church, the Rev. Father O'Neill spoke, in part as follows, at the Holy Family church yesterday:

September 24, the date of the formal dedication of our church, will go down in the history of Glendale parish, as an event of such far-reaching importance that in time to come it will be considered the turning point, or I might more truthfully say, the dividing line between the big and the little, the large and the small in accomplishment. For fifteen years, patiently have you toiled and trusted. You have had faith, faith in yourselves, faith in your pastor, and faith in your God. My friends, the old year is almost over. Just beyond the horizon, peeps the dawn of another year. The year of our Lord, 1923, who can tell what it has in store for you and me? Perhaps I will be called; and then, it might be you. Are we ready?

God has blessed you. He has prospered you in the gathering of worldly wealth. How are you using it? He constantly throws opportunities for worthy charity in your way; do you make use of that chance to do good? Or do you turn a cold shoulder to the needy? In a vice-like grip and hearken not to the call of distress? Now, my friends, I am not begging. This is not to be construed as a scolding. God forbid, for there are many here among you who give you give until it hurts. But how about the non-giver? The man who refuses to bear his just share of the burden? Who makes you carry his load, as well as your own?

And so, my friends, I come before you with a plan. A plan that I am going to submit for your approval; and you will have seven weeks to think it over. We will start the new year with an 8-day mission, and each year following we will hold an annual mission, the first week in January; during which time we will freely discuss the financing of our parish. Through the proper organs of the parish we will make individual pledges in writing, stating what we can afford to give and will give for the support of our church. And when the 700 odd families have all been listed, and the amount ascertained that we can depend on, I have reason to believe that I will not have to talk finances for a year, that is, until the first week in January, 1924. Then we can dispense with the new year's mission.

POINDEXTER TO FIGHT FOR TOGA

SEATTLE, Nov. 6.—Washington tomorrow will decide whether United States Senator Miles Poindexter, republican will succeed himself or be displaced by ex-Governor C. C. Dill, democrat. Greenwald, Glendale 1977; and Glendale Republican headquarters, Glendale 1218-J.

AMERICAN LEGION ROBBED OF CANDY

Four boxes of candy, one carton of cigarettes, and one silk shirt were stolen from the lodge room of the American Legion hall on East Broadway, some time Sunday. SNEAK THIEF IS OPERATING IN OVERCOATS

Takes That of E. U. Emery and Leaves Another on Mr.
 Kitterman's Porch

Who ever heard of an overcoat tamper? Here's a real one: Some sneak thief "snuck" quietly into the home of E. U. Emery, 423 North Kenwood street, between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock Saturday night. No one was home and the place was quiet, so this fellow moved noiselessly from room to room. Nothing was taken until the fellow reached the closet containing a high-grade overcoat belonging to "Mr. E. U." Here the thief paused, listened, glanced cautiously about. Not a sound could be heard and not a person could be seen. The thief entered the closet, whereupon the overcoat loomed up before him. Should he take it, was the question. The thief pondered. It was a good coat. The warm summer nights are fast disappearing and the cold of winter is coming on, while the chances of securing hotel accommodations are slight. So ran the thoughts of the thief.

The temptation proved too great—he took the coat. Early Sunday morning R. F. Kitterman, 311 North Kenwood street found an overcoat lying on his front porch. Possibly it was left there through an act of kindness, possibly because the owner wanted to get rid of it.

Mr. Kitterman reported the matter to the Glendale police department. The officers, knowing of the theft of a coat from the Emery home, naturally asked Mr. Emery to call at the police department to get his coat.

Mr. Emery did as requested, but found the coat that Mr. Kitterman found does not belong to him.

So there you are. The police are puzzled. Did the thief, after stealing the coat from the Emery home deposit his old one on the Kitterman porch? The mystery of the overcoat—or overcoat—remains unsolved. But the fact remains that while Mr. Kitterman has an overcoat of his own and does not need the one left on his front porch, Mr. Emery is in need of the coat that was stolen from him. Amateur "Sherlock Holmes" welcomed.

More About Pool at Eliasville, Texas

The well of the Eliasville Pool Syndicate No. 1, located on the H. J. Cleveland survey, 12 miles north of Breckenridge, Stevens county, Texas, which came in at 8 a. m. October 30, (at a depth of 3300 ft.) for 500 barrels has now increased to 750 barrels daily; and in addition has a gas flow of between 7 and 8 million cubic feet. This well before coming in produced gas to 5 million feet per day. A number of Glendallians are interested.

The oil production was reached at one foot depth in oil sand. The oil sand of this district runs from 90 to 110 feet. The gravity of the oil runs from 38 to 41. All gas and oil from this well is handled by the Prairie Oil and Gas company through its pipe lines. By all indications the production of this well, by careful handling, should be greater than above stated. Blvd. Los Angeles, is the trustee for this syndicate. Nearly all of his time, for the past year, has been spent at the lease supervising the drilling of this well. Mr. J. H. Chambers, of the same address, with the assistance of Mr. P. M. Raymond of 546 N. Kenwood street, Glendale. Mr. Raymond has devoted his entire time to this since last February.

The telegram, announcing the bringing in of this first well of the lease, was received by Mr. Raymond direct from Mr. Nix at 1 p. m. on October 30. Mr. Raymond has succeeded in interesting a large number of Glendallians and Los Angeles residents in this lease, and it was his pleasure to notify these unit holders of their fortunate investment when this well came in.

The combined production of this well from this lease of the Eliasville Pool Syndicate No. 1 is equivalent to a 3000 barrel well, said Mr. Raymond. "Lumber and rig irons are on the ground preparatory to spudding in of the second well. These gentlemen of Los Angeles and Glendale who are financing this lease have a field of joining and options on other property in proven oil territory of Texas, which they plan to develop at a later date."

REALTY BOARD ELECTION

The Glendale realty board will have its annual meeting and election of officers Wednesday noon in the chamber of commerce banquet hall. A governing committee is elected from the floor and from the realty board. The governing committee of the governing committee whose terms expire this year are C. L. Chandler, E. P. Hayward and Mrs. M. L. Tight. Three will therefore be elected at the coming meeting.

WILLIAM MARPLE RETURNS

William Marple, who left about three weeks ago for a landlocking trip in the state of Sonora, Mexico, returned to his home at 215 West Palmer avenue, Sunday. He reports that things in the farming line in Sonora are on the boom. Several large ranches have been started recently and others are contemplated. Artesian wells have been located in a number of places, and, taken altogether, things are very encouraging.

LIGHTWEIGHTS TO CLASH

Thanksgiving Turkey Deserves a Good, Hot, Competent Range

Sure listens good. Thanksgiving comes but once a year and it so happens that it comes this month. But a turkey is not good unless it is roasted properly. When it is roasted properly and the family is gathered around the table, there is a broad smile on each face in anticipation of the first bite of that wonderful turkey, goose or chicken, as the case may be. If you haven't a range large enough to cook said turkey, turn to the Press want ads each day until you find the bargain you are looking for. If there is a bargain it will be listed in the Press want ads. Make it a real Thanksgiving for your wife.

VOLUNTEERS ARE CALLED BY THE PRESS NEWTON

Broadcasting Station of Glendale Seeks Artists
 for Concerts

The city of Glendale is full of talented singers and instrumentalists. Many of these artists have sung over the radiophones in Los Angeles, but have never sung over the Glendale radio phone. Perhaps many of these singers have held the opinion that their services are not desired. Such is not the case. The difficulty is that the operating force of the Glendale radio station does not know where to reach all of these artists, and for that reason, it is issuing a call for volunteers.

Every Glendallian should be proud of the Glendale radio phone. It is the only 50 watt station on the Pacific coast, holding the reputation that does. The Press-Newton radio station is heard every night in the states of Washington, California, Arizona and Nevada, and has been heard in Chicago, Ill., Lyons, Kansas, Oklahoma and many other great distant places, as the cards and letters show that are received daily at the station.

It is safe to say that the majority of the people in and around Los Angeles hold radio KFAC as their favorite station, because it has always been the clearest station in Southern California. All of this boasting is based on fact from personal conversation with letters. The Radio Digest, an official magazine in Chicago, has honored this station with a half page write-up, something that no other station in this locality can boast of.

If you are a singer, instrumentalist, monologist, actor, etc., call Glendale 97 or 99 and say that you wish to help. If you are the neighbor of such an artist, urge your neighbor to help. Boost, but don't let the fastest growing and the best city in America lose the reputation its radio station has won. Phone right now!

MRS. FITZPATRICK BEGINS WORK IN HOMES

This week the teacher elected by the board of education to visit the homes of crippled children and direct their education, will begin her work.

Mrs. Flora H. Fitzpatrick, who was elected, has just moved from 312 East Colorado to 922 North Madison, Hollywood, because it would be nearer to her husband's work. The Fitzpatricks expect, however, to return to Glendale. She has a daughter, Mrs. S. A. San Diego, who is a teacher in one of the schools of that city one year, and for two years in Calexico. It will be her work to visit the homes of the children once a week and plan a course of study that will fit the needs of each child. She will be employed by the board on half time and will give five mornings a week to the work, from 8:30 to 12.

MOTHER AND CHILD BURNED BY STOVE

Little Marie Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Porter of 201 East Palmer was severely burned this morning by having her clothing ignited from the flame of an open gas stove. In trying to extinguish the fire her mother was also burned. Physicians say that Marie will recover, although she is suffering intensely now. Fortunately her face escaped injury.

ARMISTICE DAY GAME LINE UP

California-Vestal Clash on Moyses Field for Glendale
 Celebration

BOTH ARE STRONG

Championship of Southern Division of Fleet Is Involved

Coach Hayhurst is looking forward with keen anticipation to the big game to be played on Moyses field Armistice day, by the California and Vestal teams. On Saturday he witnessed the football game in which the California team defeated the Idaho team, 7 to 6. As the Idaho was the champion last year of the Pacific fleet, it was some triumph. The Vestal team, he says, is somewhat lighter than the California, but faster, and he expects it to be a very pretty contest. Following is the line-up of the two teams.

Prevent ILLEGAL PRACTICE of the Law Vote "YES" on Proposition 24 Tomorrow NO MAN CAN SERVE TWO MASTERS

Why Does This Happen?

This principle first laid down in the Sermon on the Mount has been followed through all ages and generations since that time that day to this, that no man can serve two masters.

The laws of every civilized country on the globe frown and look with disfavor upon any one who violates this doctrine of Christianity, which has been incorporated into the laws of conduct by all virtuous men and women in their obligations toward their fellow man.

In spite of this sound and sensible spiritual, moral and legal principle, there has appeared in late years in certain places a growing disregard for it in one particular manner it is now forcibly brought to public attention by the practice of certain trust companies.

It is a common practice for some trust companies to advertise and solicit the preparation of Wills, known as "Free Wills."

They make no immediate charge for this service if the trust company is named as trustee. Their standard form of Will gives to the trust company uncontrolled discretion in the management of the estates in their possession and in just that respect lies the danger of allowing the trust company to pretend to be serving the person whose will is being drawn.

The person who prepares that will is employed and paid by the trust company and experience has shown us that the interests of the trust companies are protected to the great dissatisfaction and detriment of the heirs of the person who had the "Free Will" drawn. The State Superintendent of Banks has said that there is no record in his office of any charges having been filed against a trust company for misconduct. Of course not. The "Free Will" is so drawn that it would be useless; for the "Free Will" gives the trust company the sole right to judge what it shall do, and how it shall invest the funds and the trust company "Free Will" provides that they are answerable to none, not even the State Superintendent of Banks or the Court.

The complaints of the widows and orphans which we hear in our law offices do not get to the Superintendent of Banks, for we tell those people that nothing can be done for them; we tell them that the "free will" protects the trust company and then the widows and children must go to the trust company and beg for a just allowance.

Who Do You Believe Is Most Interested in Your Welfare?

A few large trust companies who are accumulating in their trust departments millions in trust estates, by drawing free wills?

"WHERE IS MY BOY TONIGHT?" AT THE GLENDALE

It is rarely that a director will take a chance on a rank outsider to portray an important character in a motion picture, but in the case of the young wanderer is so back home, his mother, it required the real article and none other.

As a result a special scout was sent forth to dig up a genuine down-downer whose appearance and actions would lend that reality demanded to put the scenes across.

The scout didn't have very long to hunt, for within ten minutes after the scout's presence on a New York slum side street he discovered the very character he was looking for, an elderly old derelict about sixty years of age who looked as though he had been made to order for the part. He was accepted, by the scout, informed of what was wanted and immediately accepted. The surprising result of that old derelict's acting is plainly shown on the screen and makes one of the finest bits of realism in the whole picture. "Where is My Wanderer Boy Tonight," the production in which the scenes are shown is at the Glendale theater tonight and is heralded as one of the biggest human interest productions Almed this season.

THE REFERENDUM

(EDITOR'S NOTE:—This column will be devoted to signed propaganda relating to the various measures on the state ballot in November and other matters of like nature. Responsibility for statements herein lies with the authors whose names are signed. The space is limited.)

One cannot but help to comment upon the clean-cut, mainly campaign California's lawyers and the judiciary, assisted by realtors and some bankers and a few trust company officials are conducting in behalf of proposition No. 24, which appears on the official ballot to be voted on November 7. Quite the contrary might be said of the campaign being waged by the opponents to the measure. However, they have not displayed much activity in this community the past week and many have asked why.

It is quite probable the explanation for this "let down" on their part is due to the fact that the advocates of proposition No. 24 have no slits no place to inform the voters that several Los Angeles and San Francisco trust company and bank officials, who passed away within the past 18 months, did not "practice what they preached" in their efforts to attract estate business to their institutions by advertising free drawing of wills and giving legal advice gratis.

These officials, and their associates did not hesitate in seeking to induce the individual to come to them or their places of business and reap the "benefit" of this form of will and free legal advice, but when they passed away the public was surprised to learn that the trust company heads and bankers failed to patronize their own institutions and avail themselves of the trust features they held out to the public.

Proposition No. 24 is intended to stop the unlawful practice of the law by trust companies, disbarred lawyers and branch banks and as it has proved a substantial and satisfactory law in 24 other states it probably will be adopted in this state in November. It was created into a law in 1921, but was made inoperative by a referendum conducted by the trust company interests. Vote "yes" on proposition No. 24.

With the November election near the 7000 members of the California Bar association, a large majority of the judiciary of the state, including practically all of the state supreme court, the state appellate courts, the superior courts, members of the United States circuit courts of appeals and federal district courts and even the township justices are engaged, say the campaign officials, in a sincere effort to place proposition No. 24, sometimes spoken of as the sample bill, or wrongfully as the "lawyers' bill," in its true and proper light before the voters.

Proposition No. 24, adopted in similar language in other states, became a law in California in 1921, but was made inoperative by a referendum conducted by the trust companies, a group of chain or branch banks and a number of disbarred attorneys. These interests, fearful of being deprived of the greatest source of revenue, the drawing of "free wills," thus tying up immense amounts of wealth and giving them unlimited control of estates have waged a bitter campaign of vilification and misrepresentation against the bill, but have not been so active the past few days.

Speakers and writers in behalf of the measure which would, if adopted by the voters November 7, stop the unlawful practice of the law by trust companies, disbarred lawyers and branch banks, are now reporting in from the field that their opponents the last few days appear to have lost confidence in themselves and display less faith in their ability to continue meeting the arguments in favor of the bill. Some of the speakers against the bill have reported the voters now are displaying a keen insight and interest in the fight for and against the act.

When the voters awakened to the fact that there was an actual referendum by California realtors and their state and city organizations at first opposed to proposition No. 24, but now wholeheartedly in favor of it, it aroused their curiosity and then when won their unstinted approval it was then that the agitators against the bill began to feel the aroused interest of the voters. The voters displayed intimate knowledge of the way certain trust companies had managed the estates or trusts placed in their charge through their "free will" drawing methods of obtaining business and shot at the speakers representing these interests questions that proved rather embarrassing, to say the least. The most embarrassing question, one which the agitators did not attempt to answer, was that concerning the failure of certain trust company officials and bankers who recently passed away to patronize the trust features of their own or similar trust or banking institutions. The California Bar association, seeking to ascertain whether these officials "practiced what they preached," found plenty of information to the contrary. Included in the reports touching this question were the names of four prominent Los Angeles bank and trust company officials who did not place their wealthy estates in trust in their own or other companies. Vote "yes" on proposition No. 24. CALIFORNIA BAR ASSOCIATION

An old adage, "Beware of Greeks bearing gifts," is brought to mind in the campaign now being conducted throughout California in favor of and against proposition No. 24, which will be voted on at the November election. This proposition is aimed to put an end to the unlawful practice of the law by trust companies, certain branch banks and their unpleasant ally, the disbarred, discredited lawyer, who practice law without a license or the protection of the court, was made a law in 1921, but was tied up in effect when the trust com-

RADICAL TAXES ELECTION STATEMENT

"I have never during the six years in which I served in congress felt so confident of success on the eve of election as I do today," said Charles H. Randall, my optimism is borne out by the reports of the press associations and newspaper correspondents in every daily paper in the country. The Chicago Tribune, the republican authority, concedes the district is doubtful, and the Los Angeles Times' special article this morning says the district will probably elect me.

"That should be good news to my friends, and should encourage them to redouble their efforts tomorrow to make the result an overwhelming triumph for our cause."

"I find the people responsive to the declaration that the principles for which a candidate stands are more important than the party to which he belongs."

"Coming into the district at a late date is the amazingly frank recommendation from the association against the prohibition amendment that my opponent is the man to vote for."

"I elected tomorrow I shall endeavor to serve the people faithfully and conscientiously."

pany interests circulated a referendum against it. Speakers in the ranks of the 7,000 members of the California Bar association, who, with hundreds of realtors and bankers, are campaigning for proposition No. 24, are asking these questions of the voters:

If an undertaker advertised to furnish free medical advice, if a manufacturer of artificial limbs offered to furnish free guides to blind pedestrians, would you consider such advice or guidance wholly disinterested? If the undertaker and manufacturer expended a few hundred thousand dollars for the opportunity of furnishing you advice or guidance, would you be entirely convinced of his benevolence? Would you hasten to accept of his doubtful bounty?

The answer, the advocates of the bill say, is obvious to the great majority of voters. They point out that this is just what they accuse the trust companies and branch bank interests of doing in the way of advertising the drawing of free wills, hoping thereby to benefit by the clause they insert in the wills, in an effort to increase their business earnings and holdings.

The voters in 24 other states long ago halted the unlawful practice of the law by trust companies and their allies. Their laws, similar to proposition No. 24, continue in effect and no trust company has retired from business. It appears to be high time that California possesses a like law. Vote "yes" on proposition No. 24.

Failure of the part of several Los Angeles and San Francisco trust company and bank officials, who passed away within the past year or two, to place their estates in trust, as their companies advised the individual to do in the "free will" drawing advertisements published over their corporation names, has proved a telling weapon in the hands of the 7,000 members of the California Bar association who are campaigning the voters in favor of proposition No. 24, continuing in effect and no trust company has retired from business. It appears to be high time that California possesses a like law. Vote "yes" on proposition No. 24.

Many speakers for proposition No. 24, point to the fact that the California Real Estate association, and its subsidiary or city organizations first opposed to proposition No. 24, but now wholeheartedly in favor of it, it aroused their curiosity and then when won their unstinted approval it was then that the agitators against the bill began to feel the aroused interest of the voters. The voters displayed intimate knowledge of the way certain trust companies had managed the estates or trusts placed in their charge through their "free will" drawing methods of obtaining business and shot at the speakers representing these interests questions that proved rather embarrassing, to say the least. The most embarrassing question, one which the agitators did not attempt to answer, was that concerning the failure of certain trust company officials and bankers who recently passed away to patronize the trust features of their own or similar trust or banking institutions. The California Bar association, seeking to ascertain whether these officials "practiced what they preached," found plenty of information to the contrary. Included in the reports touching this question were the names of four prominent Los Angeles bank and trust company officials who did not place their wealthy estates in trust in their own or other companies. Vote "yes" on proposition No. 24. CALIFORNIA BAR ASSOCIATION

Other speakers have been using with telling effect the strong argument prepared by Carlos S. Hardy, a prominent Los Angeles attorney, Attorney Hardy, handling question along the line of the "standard will" used by the trust companies and branch banks engaged in writing free wills and giving legal advice gratis, declared these practices to be illegal and immoral. This form of will, he said, gives the trust company the same power over the trust estate which the testator, (person signing the will), had in his lifetime. In his language, it tends to destroy the true relationship existing between the trustee and the beneficiaries of the trust, the widow and children.

This form of will, he declared, empowers the trust company to operate at the risk of the trust estate, and not at the risk of the beneficiaries. "extending beyond the life of the trust." This authority, he pointed out, may be exercised against the wishes of the beneficiaries and without court supervision. Another telling point in his argument was that the "standard will" empowers the trust company to sell all the property of the estate and invest the entire estate in any property, whether or not the same may be permissible by law for investment of trust funds." The same form of "stock" will authorize the trust company to "sell or exchange with the trust estate its own private securities of any kind, for its own use" any securities from the trust. The attorney said this would permit the trust company to exchange questionable securities for liberty bonds of the state. Also the standard will constitutes the widows and children of testators the unwilling wards of trust companies; denies them the right to select their own guardians or to appeal to any court to protect their rights; also, any beneficiary who seeks to have the will terminated loses his or her inheritance.

Furthermore, he asserted, a widow, under this form of will, forfeits her interest in her husband's estate if she seeks to have a court set aside to her, her community property—all the widow gets is one dollar and no more. Attorney Hardy says to vote "YES" on proposition No. 24, to stop the practice. —California Bar Association.

REV. EDMONDS ON THE OLD TIME RELIGION

Rev. W. E. Edmonds preached Sunday morning at the Presbyterian Church on "The Old-Time Religion," from Jude 1:3: "It was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints." Jude, in hiding, used "content," used an athletic word and spoke in a practical way. Paul said "the fashion" of this world passeth away; this was a word of the stage and the mask, and he meant it was time to take the mask off, time to distinguish between the true and the false.

There is fashion in many things; we see it in architecture and in politics. Even in religion there are fads and fancies. Always there have been a bit of truth to start on, and that is what keeps them afloat and leads people to nibble at them and swallow them. These come and go, but the religion of Christ stands on. It is a force, and forces never change. It has four great underlying principles.

The first great principle is that of a personal God as distinguished from idols. Thinking people have repudiated idol images, but they have others these days; their gods are made of the gray matter of the human brain. Law, Force, Soul of the Universe, these are latest vogue in idolatry. They believe divinity, but not as the Bible teaches it. They center around what they call law and have no room for the supernatural. The whole of this business is hurling a deft at God; it is to avoid God. Now, God is a father. No other religion has such. He is the God who can see and hear and pity and help, to whom the soul cries out. They say it's no use praying, and hold the whole program of prayer up to ridicule, but when death approaches, then it is helpless fear. There is no such thing in the cults as a sympathetic God.

Second, the religion of Jesus Christ stands for a self-respecting manhood. Fashion presents a very different sort of man; it traces his genealogy backward through bestial ancestors to a primordial germ, "the religion of the frog spawn." Men have been rushing and spouting around denying that God made man in His own image. A great protest needs to be raised against the teaching of evolution in the high schools with no Bible allowed.

Third, the fact of sin, which no other religion needs as does Christianity. Today all these cults ridicule sin. But the word of God says the trouble with men is that they are sinners. Put the grace of God in, then the man is changed.

Fourth, the fact of the salvation of Jesus Christ, reconciliation between God and the sinner. Other religions all break down here. But everything in time and eternity depends on it. Our old-time religion is abreast of the past and present and future.

CHARLES H. RANDALL FOR CONGRESS

RANDALL RECOMMENDED FOR CONGRESS

For the best interests of the 9th District we recommend and strongly urge the election of Charles H. Randall for Congress.

REV. BOB SHULER, Pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Los Angeles

Charles H. Randall should be sent back to Congress, not only in payment for the splendid services rendered when prohibition was an unpopular political asset to any politician, but because a mighty bombardment from the liquor forces is certain in their efforts to bring back beer and wine, and through these agencies the open saloon. Mr. Randall fought when fighters were as scarce as the teeth of your White Leghorns. He should by all means be back upon the firing line.

DR. H. H. BRIGGS, State Superintendent Anti-Saloon League of California

We certainly would not permit anyone to misrepresent your Congressional record, which from the standpoint of the Anti-Saloon League is 100 per cent good.

DR. CLARENCE TRUE WILSON, General Secretary Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals

There is nothing that would help the cause of prohibition like having you back again. I knew we greatly needed you and that our work would be crippled without you. No one could give our cause the night and day leadership that you did. No one ever did before you came—no one has since you left. There is only one Randall.

SENATOR E. E. GRANT, President California Law Enforcement League

Randall is recognized the nation over as being the foremost and most effective advocate of prohibition in the national Congress.

DR. CHARLES SCANLON, President World Prohibition Federation and General Secretary Presbyterian Board of Temperance

Hon. Charles H. Randall was a member of Congress for six years. He made all friends of righteousness, and the whole country his debtor by his consistent and persistent efforts in behalf of sobriety and patriotism. The confidence and respect which he had and deserved for his work in behalf of prohibition was not second to that enjoyed by any other member of either house of Congress.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

As a believer in prohibition I would, if a citizen of California, be proud to vote for Charles H. Randall because of his splendid service to prohibition when the fight was at its height; as a democrat I would be glad to vote for him because he stands with the masses on all economic questions.

CALIFORNIA CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE (Methodist Episcopal), San Francisco

Mr. Charles H. Randall, well-known advocate of prohibition throughout the United States and a regular contributor on this subject to the Advocate, should receive our full support.

WAYNE B. WHEELER, General Counsel of the Anti-Saloon League of America, in a letter to the Flying Squadron

Charles H. Randall's record in Congress was 100 per cent dry. He would run true without question upon every vote that came up to sustain and enforce the Eighteenth Amendment.

Medical Liberty is as Valuable as Religious Liberty—Defend Your Right to it

NUMBER 20 on the ballot this coming Tuesday is the simplest act you will have to vote on. There is no joker in it.

Number 20 simply provides that instead of compelling osteopaths to be examined by the Medical Board that these graduates shall be examined by men who know osteopathy.

At present there are eight medical men and two osteopaths on the Examining Board. Number 20 creates a separate examining board for, by and of osteopaths, and it doesn't cost the voter one single penny. All expenses are met by a $25 fee that the graduate pays for examination.

It isn't the present law that is changed by Number 20, it is the administration of that law.

Look at the list of subjects below. These are studied, over the same course of years, by medical men and by osteopaths. Then the osteopaths add 1000 hours of study on osteopathy itself. They are more thoroughly schooled than students of medicine alone.

Is there any reason why their qualifications should not be considered by men as well versed as themselves in the profession they intend to enter, or is there any reason why YOUR right to choose osteopathy should be any more questioned than your right to choose your own religion?

HERE'S WHAT THEY STUDY

The law is the same for Osteopaths and Medical doctors. It requires for admission to the examination for a license, the successful completion of the following four years' course of study:

Facts Established Fact by Courts

Superior Judge Wellborn, after an exhaustive investigation and trial, found and decided that the Osteopathic College more than met the requirements of the law and was "in all respects maintaining a high standard of instruction to its students."

Judges Conrey, Shaw and James of the Appellate Court reviewed the evidence and unanimously decided that, in all respects, both as to quality and amount of education given, the Osteopathic College had proved that it complied with the law.

The Supreme Court affirmed the decision.

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

BY

Clarence W. Chadwick, C. S. B.

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Delivered in the Church edifice at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Glendale, California.

The lecturer was introduced by Arthur P. Care, First Reader.

"CHRISTIAN SCIENCE: RELIGION MADE PRACTICAL."

What the whole world needs today is more religion. But this religion must be made practical if it is to prove remedial or constructive. The gospel of healing must accompany the gospel of preaching. If the Word is to be with power, it is what Christians do, more than what they say, that convinces one that there is salvation in religion.

Because Christian Science has healed thousands and hundreds of thousands in Jesus' way, it has won its right to recognition as a practical religion. The best way to inspire a man's faith in God, is to heal him morally and physically, thereby proving to him the power of Immanuel, "God with us," and giving him breadth and freedom of thought with which to recognize the great need of a demonstrable religion. His experience of healing soon does away with his innate opposition to spirituality. Those spiritually healed in Christian Science have nothing to say against Christ Jesus, nor against the religion which he lived to establish. Their one desire is to understand God and His Christ and to make their religion practical.

GOD IS LOVE

The story is told of a man, who, when a small child, became separated from his parents and was made to believe that he had a most unkind and cruel father, one who was always severe, unloving, and unlovable; one who was relentless and unforgiving, showing neither mercy nor pity for his own. The child listened to this portrayal of his father's character, which naturally made him very unhappy; and he grew to manhood, actually believing it all to be true.

Finally, a traveler, who was well acquainted with his father, found his way to this man and told him what was really true about his father. The man soon saw that he had been laboring under a woeful misconception of his parent, who was now represented to him as a most loving father, full of goodness and compassion toward his children, never angry nor wrathful, but full of gentleness and tenderness and kindness—just the opposite of what he had been taught to believe.

Many of us have been educated to believe what is just as untrue concerning our heavenly Father; and not until Christian Science entered into our lives did we learn that God is Love, full of goodness, mercy, and compassion; that he sends no evil, sin, disease, nor death upon man; that He is never angry nor wrathful with His children, but unutterably kind and loving.

Who but a God who is Love, a kind and considerate Father, "full of compassion, and gracious, long-suffering, and plenteous in mercy and truth" (Ps. 86:15), could say to us: "Come now, and let us reason together,—though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool" (Isa. 1:18). When one experiences forgiveness of sin, one can say with the Psalmist, "O give thanks unto the Lord; for He is good, for His mercy endureth forever" (Ps. 106:1).

Some of the terms employed in Christian Science to define Deity to human consciousness are Love, Truth, Life, Spirit, and Mind. To one trained to believe in a God of wrath and vengeance, these synonyms for God, when studied in the light of Christian Science, reveal an entirely new sense of heaven and earth and man.

"The life of a professing Christian should prove to humanity that Love manifested is the greatest thing in the world, that it is the one thing worth while, the pearl of great price. How can there be more than omnipotent, omniscient, and omnipresent Love and its infinite manifestation? All other terms used to define Deity are but different names for divine Love."

Christian Science reveals the spiritual idea, man, as forever inseparable from God. To know, then, that God is Love, makes men fearless, unselfish, loving, kind, and compassionate. To know that God is Truth, makes men truthful, trustworthy, upright, and honorable. To know that God is Life, makes men more mentally awake, active, and useful, and, therefore, increases longevity. To know that God is Spirit, increases spirituality and leads thought away from the body. To know that God is an infinite Mind, quickens one's mental faculties of perception and comprehension, and enlarges one's capacity for right thinking.

Love's invitation, given to the world through Christ Jesus twenty centuries ago, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest" (Mat. 11:28), is reiterated today in the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. It comes with healing in its wings, revealing the sacred mission of Christ Jesus, to teach and to demonstrate the law of love, and to show the Father, who we must learn to love, for what saith the Scripture? "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God, and everyone that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love" (1 John 4:7-8).

THE SAVIOUR

Mrs. Eddy's teachings have thrown so much light upon the life and mission of the great Saviour of men, that the great Saviour can call her blessed. She says in substance to her followers: "If you profess to love him, keep his commandments." Then she explains, in unmistakable terms, how we are to prove our obedience.

When once asked whether she believed in the atonement of Christ she replied: "I do; and this atonement becomes more to me since the mission of the great Saviour, as well as from sin, is to reverence and adore Christ as never before" (Misc. p. 96).

Christian Scientists do not believe that Jesus, the highest executor of God's law, atoned for our sins by annulling the righteous penalty for individual wrong doing, but that, by demonstrating the omnipotence of good, he proved the utter powerlessness of evil, and thereby outlined for us the one and only way to escape the penalties for wrong doing, viz., by ceasing to do wrong. By proving man's atonement with God, good, he became "the way, the truth, and the life" to all mankind.

Christian Scientists do not question the spiritual origin or divinity of Jesus. They accept, without reservation, Mrs. Eddy's statement that "Mary's conception of him was spiritual" (Science and Health, p. 332). They honor and revere the name of Christ Jesus, and they know only too well that something more than lip service is required to enable them to follow in his mental footsteps. They recognize the necessity for concentrated study and application of the sacred Word as presented in the Bible, and in the Christian Science text-book, if they would ever make their religion practical.

One of the highest tributes ever paid the Saviour was by our revered Leader when she said: "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct vision revealed the sick" (Science and Health, p. 476).

DEMONSTRATION

What is demonstration in Christian Science? It is the practical proof of God's power and presence, resulting in moral and physical healing. By way of illustration: Suppose that a Christian Scientist reads in the morning papers that some dreaded plague is about to make its appearance in his community; that it has elsewhere already claimed its thousands of victims, and that materia medica is unable to cope with it. What does he do? He instantly refuses to accept sense testimony by striving to realize that the one Mind God, is ever present and all-powerful, and governs the entire universe in perpetual peace and harmony; consequently, that there are in reality no evil minds to believe in disease nor to fear it; that there is really no evil to master, nor anyone into believing what is untrue. He knows that divine Love is supreme; that it casts out all fear. He persists in abiding in this secret place of the omnipotence and omnipresence of good; and what is the result? He remains fearless and strong; he escapes the devastating scourge himself, and he helps many others to recognize the nothingness of fear and hypnotic suggestion. This is Immanuel, "God with us," or demonstration. It is religion made practical.

One who knows nothing of Christian Science is confronted with the same glaring headlines, announcing the forthcoming plague. What does he do? He will most likely accept what he reads, and will eagerly convey the information to others. It is safe to say that it will not occur to him to think of God as an ever-present help. He believes that some awful calamity is about to be experienced; and he thinks of it so much, and becomes so fearful of results that, almost before he realizes it, that which he greatly feared has come upon him. Fear and disease are more real to him than what he calls life, and he surrenders to them unconditionally! How true the Scripture: "Perfect love casteth out fear; for fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love" (1 John 4:18). Thousands upon thousands of human lives are sacrificed every year, because people insist upon believing and fearing what the senses tell them, instead of acknowledging the power and presence of God.

Demonstration is the power of divine Love made practical to humanity. One cannot grasp the meaning of scientific demonstration nor become a successful practitioner until one learns how to feel and to express love for all mankind. The true Christian Scientist strives to abide in a healing consciousness, one characterized by genuine humility and confidence, as well as thankfulness for God's goodness and mercy.

Had Christ Jesus failed to prove that "his word was with power" (Luke 4:32), could he have conferred power upon his disciples "to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of diseases" (Matt. 10:1)? Indeed not! No personal gift ever conferred real power upon anyone. The giving of spiritual power to his followers was nothing less than the practical proof to them of healing, accompanied by such audible attestation as the Master felt led to give. And this is demonstration, which fully agrees with Webster's definition of the word: "to show by proof; to establish beyond a doubt."

Christians today are given power to heal only when they lose confidence in matter, and turn to God with such implicit faith, trust, and understanding, that healing actually takes place.

The Apostle Paul's experience on the island of Melita will illustrate this point. The poisonous viper had fastened itself upon his hand, and the barbarous natives were sure that he would soon succumb to the poison. But Paul's faith and trust were in God, which gave him power not only to heal himself, but many others who later came to him for help. The barbarians, after looking on for a great while after Paul had shaken "off the beast into the fire, and felt no harm," finally "changed their minds and said that he was a God" (Acts 28:5-6).

The modern unbeliever, after witnessing numerous cases of healing in Christian Science, must also change his mind if he would ever understand the operation of spiritual law and be given power to heal. Thousands are daily turning away from matter to Mind for help, and the demonstration of Christian Science is taking place in their behalf. Many are being spared the experience of the surgeon's knife, a very few treatments often times removing any necessity for an operation. The man who is healed in Christian Science receives an impartation of spiritual power which soon enables him to comprehend the rudiments of Christian healing.

Demonstration is not humanly willing nor outlying things to come our way. It is the voluntary surrender of self-will and self-interest for the good of humanity. Christian Scientists do not demonstrate material things. They work mentally to bring their thinking into accord with the will of God. That is, they seek first the leading of divine wisdom, and then, as the result of unselfish obedience and trust, all needful things are added unto them. Demonstration discriminates between human want and spiritual need. Human beings may want a great many things which it is not at all needful nor even advisable for them to have. Demonstration enables them to acquire only such things as are useful and needful. In other words, it enables them to be truly economical.

Talking Christian Science, or arguing in the letter, without practicing its precepts, does not make religion practical. Demonstration is the consistent blending of practice and profession; it is the answer to the unceasing prayer of Christian living, the overcoming, or blotting out, of evil with good.

GOD'S PRESENCE

Why are Christians so vitally concerned in the coming of Christ, Truth? Is it not because Christ comes to unmask and to destroy the falsity of evil, thereby revealing the all-presence of God, good? Is it not perfectly clear, then, that until one gains the right idea of good, one does not comprehend the mythical nature of evil? Can one overcome evil before one understands, at least in part, the power and presence of good? Christ Jesus plainly said: "If I had not come and spoken unto them, they had not had sin; but now they have no cloak for their sin" (John 15:22). The coming of Christ, then, is the message of a sure salvation for all mankind.

But until they receive this message and lovingly obey its demands, the problem of evil for them will remain unsolved. Where Christ, Truth, is, God is; and where God is, evil is not. Evil, then, in all its varied phases, is but a seeming absence of God. The warning of Scripture is not against the presence of evil, but against believing that evil has presence.

The only possible pretext for believing in evil is to disbelieve in the all-presence of God, good. Does the Christian dignify his religion by thinking and talking about that which has no real presence? Has he any Biblical authority for voicing error? Is not God's law just as much opposed to wrong thinking as to wrong acting? Can one continue to think wrong and at the same time expect to realize the presence of God? Can one think sickly thoughts and at the same time realize the presence of health?

Is not God's presence something more than an idle theory? Is it not something which "cannot be annulled by the dictum of the personal senses? Pray, what is meant by these statements of Holy Writ, 'My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest' (Ex. 33:14)? and 'Do not I fill heaven and earth? saith the Lord' (Jer. 23:24)? Do such statements suggest to the Christian something purely imaginary? To the Christian Scientist, the all-presence of God is the eternal substance and reality of being. The presence of God is the undiminished absence of sin and disease, else there is no foundation for Christian healing. The heart of man should rejoice to learn that evil is not presence at all, but is simply a supposititious absence of reality. Darkness is not presence, but is only a seeming absence of light, else darkness could never be dispelled by the light. God is light, and since God is all, spiritual light must be the only real presence. And else is but a seeming ignorance of God is not presence; but every Christian virtue bears witness to the ever-presence of good.

DOES CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HEAL?

Does Christian Science heal the sick? Is a question that is answered today in a most practical way. In all parts of the civilized world may be found living witnesses to the healing power of Christian Science. These recipients of God's blessings will tell you that they owe a debt of endless gratitude, not only to the one God and to His Son, Christ Jesus, but to the beloved Leader of the Christian Science movement, who, in the year 1866, discovered the science of Christianity, and labored unflinchingly and unselfishly to make it available to the whole world. The great Master thought and wrought above and contrary to the senses, and, by so doing, he demonstrated the truth of his own most profound statement, "I and my Father are one"—one in quality, but not in quantity. He was maligned and crucified for proving the unity and reality of good.

Mary Baker Eddy, because of her spiritual recognition of the Principle supporting Jesus' healing works, which enabled her to annul sense testimony, likewise aroused the malice and hatred of worldlings. Because she trusted omnipotent Love to fill every human need, she lived to love and to bless all mankind.

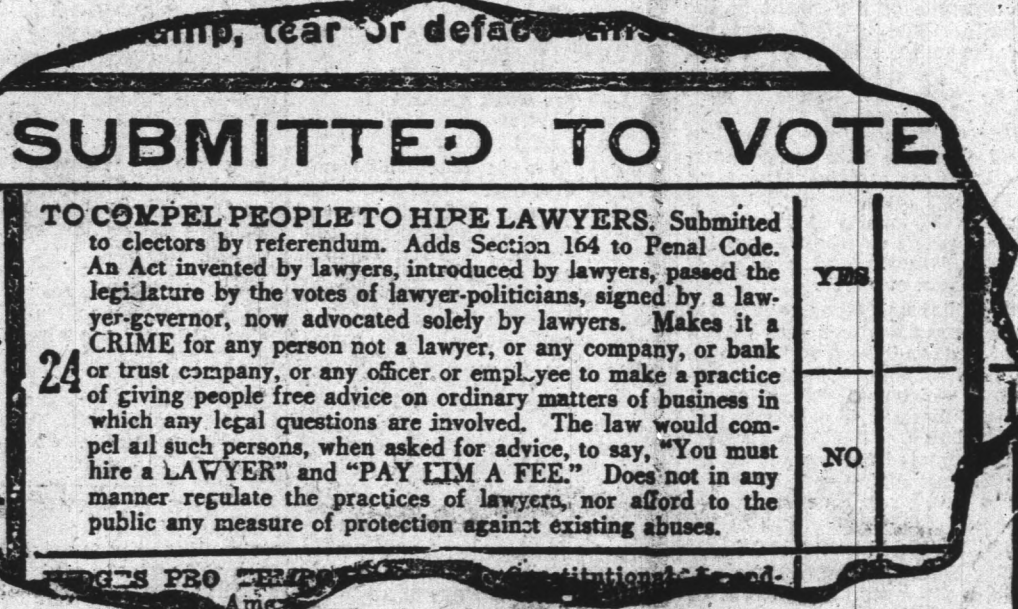

One who was for many years a member of Mrs. Eddy's household, when speaking of her work for humanity, paid this loving tribute to her character: "Our dear Leader was a spiritually minded woman or she could never have wrought the great work for mankind. Her goodness was felt as well as proclaimed by others and we cannot speak enough in her praise."

Christ Jesus said: "I and my Father are one." Mrs. Eddy said, "Follow your Leader only so far as she follows Christ" (Mes. 1902, p. 4). She did not set aside the Saviour. She knew his worth and his work, and she tried to bring to the world the import of that work.

Many thousands of brave, loyal Christian Scientists, in all sections of the world, opposed by both medicine and ecclesiasticism, have achieved such notable success as to place Christian Science healing far beyond the experimental stage. Physical healing in Christian Science, however, is secondary to the conquering of sin, expressed in the deep-rooted vices and passions of the carnal mind. There is not a single known disease or sin that cannot be healed in Christian Science.

This Science is preeminently successful in dealing with so-called contagious diseases, where the whole mental and physical manifestation is one of extreme fear. We soon learn in Christian Science that health is far more contagious than disease. The moment we become conscious of the presence of divine Love, all evidence of dis-

ABNER DOBLE'S Master Motor Car On Demonstration

in Glendale. The Doble Steam Motor Car Will Be on Demonstration THURSDAY, NOV. 9, 1922, FROM 9:00 A. M. TO 12:00 NOON

For twelve years Abner Doble placed his unusual mechanical genius to the task of solving the problem of the steam automobile without the "bugs" of a pilot light, a troublesome boiler, stops for water and without the annoyance of waiting several minutes to get up steam.

The DOBLE STEAM CAR that will be on demonstration sets new standards in the motor car industry.

This car meets fully each of the stringent requirements of Abner Doble, whose ideal of a motor car is so high that a new set of standards is necessary to gauge its worthiness.

The DOBLE CAR is so superior in its construction, so simple in its design, that the power plant of this marvelous motor car is guaranteed for 100,000 miles.

Without adjustment, the DOBLE STEAM CAR can use any grade of fuel—gasoline, kerosene, distillate are equally efficient—and in economy excels any comparable car.

A pint of oil in 500 miles is the consumption of this car. Through the exclusive electric control feature covered by the Doble patent, the Doble Car generates steam in a few seconds from "cold," by simply turning a switch and advancing the throttle, and the car glides silently and easily into motion.

ease and all fear of contagion disappear. This proves that disease is mental and that mind and not matter is its remedy.

No Christian Scientist attaches importance to the microscopic germ theory of disease. On the contrary, all of his time is occupied in magnifying the things that make for health and happiness. Since God never made a disease germ, mind human belief must father it; but belief never gave real power nor life to anything nor to any body. Then, why flee from a lifeless germ as one chased by "the sound of a shaken bell" (Lev. 26:37)? The so-called disease germ that is supposed to travel from city to city, and from continent to continent is nothing more nor less than a disease thought germ; and when Christian people grasp this fact in the light of Christian Science, they will lose their fear and dread of disease, and will deal with the germ theory as a purely human invention.

Unless we intelligently reject the mental suggestion of disease and germs, what is likely to take place? Soon or later the mental image of disease will be externalized or shadowed forth on the body. The only way, then, to protect the body is to be ever on guard to dismiss from consciousness the thought of disease and sin the moment it is detected. If we are vigilant in dealing with disease and germs as thought, we shall be saved the experience of a so-called diseased body.

The modern germ theory of disease is already well on its way to a state of innocuous desuetude, if reports from medical journals are to be credited. While experimenting upon subjects selected for the purpose, thousands, and even millions of different disease germs have been taken into the human system without producing the slightest effects; and at the onset of various diseases no germs whatsoever have been in evidence, all of which goes to prove the fallacy of the theory. Some leading physicians of the country do not hesitate to denounce it in forceful terms.

When we learn that God's thoughts, or ideas, are omnipresent and inseparable from his divine source; that they alone are really endowed with power and intelligence—thoughts of sin and disease vanish into nothingness. A correct or scientific understanding of God's health because it cannot help healing. Healing through Christ, Truth, takes place as naturally as the shining of the sun. Every ray of spiritual light that floods human consciousness declares the presence of mind and matter, and glory of God and Christ, and that they can be dispelling the dark shadows of false sense. Truth heals because it has no affinity with error. Love heals because it has no affinity with hate; Mind heals because it has no affinity with matter.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TREATMENT

Treatment in Christian Science means doing something for the sick according to an understood Principle, instead of experimenting upon them with poisonous drugs, and then waiting for any weeks, and sometimes months, to see whether they get well. Christian Science treatment gives sight to the blind and hearing to the deaf, by doing something for them which has done or ever can do. When it gives a sufferer immediate possession of health and strength, after materia medica has pronounced its verdict of hopelessness, it does something for him which physical science does not and cannot explain.

When all manner of diseases are healed in a few Christian Science treatments, and fear and sin are destroyed, does this not prove that intelligent action has been taken in behalf of the afflicted? When the anxious and fearful mother asks help for her innocent babe, who, the doctors say, cannot possibly survive, and Christian Science gives instant relief by breaking the power of ignorance, fear, and anxiety—who would presume to declare that nothing has been done for the helpless infant? If Christian Science treatment makes a specialty of any one thing, it is doing something for suffering humanity, instead of thrusting God aside in the hour of trouble by bowing down to the verdict of the deceitful senses.

When these senses pass judgment upon man, declaring that he is sick, even going so far as to pronounce the verdict of death upon him, is it the exercise of "good common sense" to sit idly by and accept the testimony of five witnesses who know positively nothing of the God "who healeth all diseases"? Or shall we rise in righteous rebellion against such testimony, knowing that the power and presence of God and His Christ are more to a man than anything else in the world? It is the physician's sense, remember, that advises and would compel the use of material remedies; that call sin and disease real, and man a mixture of mind and matter; and that demand complete medical supervision and control of the human body. Is the hand of the Lord shortened that it cannot save? God never inspired faith in the use of poison or mind and matter; and that God heals because it cannot help healing. man, the image and likeness of God, can never be separated from eternal life.

When it is better understood that man lives, and moves, and has his being in Spirit, and not in a mortal body, the so-called communications of spiritualism will be rightly classified as sense phenomena, unknown to the so-called departed communicators, but belonging wholly to our present plane of existence.

WORLD PROBLEMS

The religion of Christ Jesus put into daily practice, is the only thing that can rid the world of the chaotic conditions which now seem to prevail. Coincident with the demonstration of the Christian virtues is the disappearance of that "greatest curse of the human race"—selfishness. Human laws will, no doubt, continue to be enacted during the transitional period; but not until the higher law of Spirit, founded upon the First Great Commandment, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me," is recognized and obeyed, will the reign of human selfishness give place to universal peace and brotherhood; to humanity, justice, and kindness.

Christ Jesus, the great Wayshower, offers complete deliverance to the world from its social, civil, political and religious miseries. His unparalleled example of self-sacrifice still shines forth as a beacon light to all who would learn the divine solution for every human problem; be it small or great. Strive as one may, to find a short-cut, or will discover, sooner or later, that the Christ way of learning Life, so long lost to the world through dogma and persecution, has again been given to humanity through the tireless, unselfish effort of our beloved Leader, Mary Baker Eddy. She it is who has so quickened the universal consciousness to the need of studying and practicing the precepts of the great Wayshower.

Thousands have been enabled to say of him, as did Peter of old: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God" (Matt. 16:16). If the time spent in forcing human theories and opinions upon others, could be devoted to more serious study of the Sermon on the Mount, and to the practice of its precepts, the reign of selfishness would sooner be recognized in every department of human life. Jesus' teachings are proved to be practical in Christian Science. The practice of Christianity has not failed. It was the lack of Christian practice which caused the church to drift into dogmatism and formalism, and to substitute creeds for a demonstrable religion.

CAPITAL AND LABOR

The seeming conflict between capital and labor is largely an exhibition of human selfishness, due to false standards of education. If the world's educational institutions could be founded upon the Christ, Truth, instead of upon belief in intelligent matter, there would sooner be a race of people, whose only aim in life would be to understand and do the will of God; to live a life of Christian service. The selfish materialist, whether capitalist or laborer, believing in the reality of matter, is living a life of material accumulation and hoarding. What will awaken him? He must learn how to give, how to share with others, how to share with them his own blessings. It is what a man does with his wealth that makes him truly wealthy.

The helpless sick man is just as much a slave to matter. He, too, is hugging his sick beliefs, and constantly adding to them. What will awaken him? He must learn how to give, how to share with others, how to share with them his own blessings. It is what a man does with his wealth that makes him truly wealthy.

TEMPERANCE

The demonstration of Christian Science will prove to be the only possible solution of the temperance problem, because it scientifically destroys the individual's mistaken sense of pleasure in matter. World prohibition is not the ultimatum of temperance reform, but it voices the quickened sense of millions who would do all in their power to save the world from widespread debauchery and crime. The present crusade against the demoralizing tendencies of the harmful drink has the unqualified support of every true Christian Scientist, who will patiently await, through prayer and demonstration, the final conquest over all evil.

Christian Scientists have the reputation of being a happy people. They have good reasons for being so—they have learned that the foundation of all true happiness is the expression of divine Love. In loving their neighbor as themselves, they have learned to look for the good in their fellowman and to eschew the evil. In the words of Sheridan they "Believe not each accusing tongue."

As most weak persons do, but still believe that story wrong. Which ought not to be true. They believe in that wholesome, constructive, right thinking that constitutes practical religion and enables them to do their full duty to God, to their Leader, to their country, and to all mankind.

In the words of our Leader, "The song of Christian Science is, 'Work—work—work—watch and pray'" (Mes. 1900, p. 2). Christian Scientists, therefore, are joyful, willing workers, in fullest sympathy with those high ideals which make for a true Christian democracy, and they are doing their part to have these ideals realized in the preservation of a righteous government of the people. They know that to work is to pray with the understanding, which means to maintain a right mental attitude at all times. Only by so doing can they make

UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE

Under the prevailing influence of Christian Science, the problem of universal suffrage is rapidly approaching realization, but it is not yet divorced from some pronounced phases of human selfishness, due to a lack of understanding of man's relationship to God. Christian Science places no barriers in the way of woman's coming into her own. She has stood for and she still stands for the noblest, the purest, and the best in human life, and no imperious attitude of her lordly companion can reduce her to any lower rank.

It was the pure-mindedness of a woman that gave birth, centuries ago, to the Saviour of the world. It was the exalted spiritual perception of a woman, Mary Baker Eddy, that gave to the world, in modern times, the great spiritual discovery of Christian Science in that wonderful companion-piece to the Bible, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures." One cannot consistently reflect upon the part that woman has ever played in the great humanitarian, educational, and reform movements of the world, without being willing to accord her the right of suffrage.

Our beloved Leader's prophetic benediction rests upon the hour: "The elements of earth beat in vain against the immortal particles of this Science. Erect and eternal, it will go on with the ages, go down the dim posterns of time unharmed, and on every battlefield rise higher in the estimation of thinkers and in the hearts of Christians (Misc. p. 383:10-15).

JESUS, THE ONLY DOOR TO HEAVEN, SAYS REV. FORD

"Jesus opened the eyes of the blind man who afterward went about praising God. When the officials of the church heard his rejoicing they threw him out of the synagogue," said Dr. Rev. Ernest E. Ford, pastor of the First Baptist church, Sunday morning. "Later on Jesus saw the young man and asked of him, 'Do you believe in God?'"

"Who is he," said the man, "that I may believe in him?" "I am he," said Jesus.

"Jesus said, 'I am the door to the sheepfold. Nothing on earth or in hell can shut us out of the fold if we believe in God.' Jesus tells us He is the door and that everyone who shall believe in God shall go in and out and find shelter."

"There are many who would tell you that you can get in the sheepfold by some other door than Jesus Christ. You cannot get into the fold by any of the lama, cults, Christian Science or any of them—except by the door—Jesus Christ."

"In olden times the shepherds took their flocks of sheep to the fold and they were all locked in together. In the morning the keeper of the fold opened the door and each shepherd called his sheep. They knew his voice and would follow him, but a stranger would they not follow."

"The wages of today are as fierce and mad as ever. More of them are in sheep clothing than ever before. They are seeking to get God's sheep, but our Heavenly Father protects his own."

"Our spiritual life must come from the God who is everlastingly and never changing. Jesus said, 'I know my sheep and am known of mine. No one can pluck my sheep out of my hands.'"

"So straighten up, Christians. We have an inheritance that can be denied us by any worldly agency, providing we walk with Jesus all the way."

'BULLDOGS' FIGHT TO TIE OF 6 TO 6 WITH HEAVIER LANCASTER HIGH ELEVEN

Outweighed Ten Pounds to the Man, Burbank Scrappers Hold Visiting Team Throughout Exciting Game

SHORT PASSES ARE OGBORN'S BOYS' LONG SUIT

Burbank Lightweights to Clash With San Fernando for Valley Title Next Week; Every One Is Urged by Coach to Support Team

Coach Ogborn's bulldogs of Burbank high school fought their way to a tie game with Lancaster last night, in probably the most exciting football game ever staged on the local field. The final score was 6 to 6.

The Burbank fighters were outweighed again about 10 pounds to the man, but the determination with which they scrapped the Lancaster eleven put them upon an equal footing with the visiting team.

The light Burbank line could not stand up under the heavy bucking of the Lancaster team, but short end runs and short passes did the trick and kept the visitors bewildered.

Once the local fighters had the ball on the Lancaster 1-foot line and then failed to make a touchdown.

The line-up follows: Burbank—Daniels, re; Williams, le; Sandison, t; Burnette, t; Griswold, g; Mooney, g; Hood, g; Wilson, c; Harvey, c; Ghio, h; Hollomon, h; Meade, q; Harding, r.

The Burbank lightweights have an excellent chance to win the valley lightweight title, according to Coach Ogborn, and play the San Fernando team next Friday for the title.

If the lightweights here win next Friday they will enter the semifinals for the state championship.

WOMAN'S CLUB PLAYS SHOW GOOD WORK

"The Trysting Place," "The Florist Shop" and "Enter Dora" were the three plays which the dramatic section of the Women's club gave at the grammar school auditorium last night.

Members of the cast have been working for some time on the plays and people who attended the entertainment last night say that presentation of the plays showed good preparation.

The board of directors of the Women's club will meet November 7 at 12:30 at the home of Mrs. E. A. Fischer.

NEW STOCKYARD CELEBRATION HELD

Cattle Center Will Encourage Industry in This Vicinity

A number of Burbank people, interested in stock raising, were present at the celebration held at the opening of the new Union Stock Yards in Los Angeles, November 1. The opening of the yards marks a new era in the cattle raising industry in Southern California.

The cattle exhibited from the north and northeast was a credit to any country.

The heads of the new enterprise are Chicago men.

Stock raising has helped to make Chicago a great metropolis, and Kansas City, St. Louis and other cities have been boosted by stock raising.

A barbecue, with a variety of foods, helped to make the opening celebration of the new union yards in Los Angeles a great success.

EXPERIMENTER MAKES SUITCASE RADIO

Believes That Radio Moving Pictures Are Too Complicated for Home Use

The suitcase edition is the latest thing in radio, according to Ben Trout, who has a shop at 120 East First street. On a trip which he took this summer into Monterey and Mariposa counties he took his "suitcase radio outfit" with him and strung aerial wires on large trees there. He was able to hear as far south as California with the portable outfit.

The outfit is not only a receiving set but also a set which will send for some miles.

Mr. Trout has also been working on an arrangement by which the whole household can hear what the radio "has to say."

He has connected a Master Baldwin phone with a regular phonograph horn, and the arrangement serves as an excellent Magnavox. Trout has been working with radio for "several years" and sees great possibilities in it. He says that it is perfectly possible to send moving pictures by radio but believes that the set which could transmit pictures would be so complicated that it would be impractical for home use.

He says that many people are sold wireless outfits that are more complicated than they can readily operate, and as a result of being "sold" condemn the whole field of radio. This tendency to sell a man a set that he does not know how to operate is giving to the radio industry a bad reputation, he thinks.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK—

By E. R. WAITE, Secretary Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

That the way to get business is to go after it.

That an easy, sure and cheap way to go after it is by the right kind of advertising.

That some business men are alert enough to take advantage of this opportunity, some go further and act upon it, while others simply "sit steady in the boat," do nothing and lose more than they ever know.

That a booster believes in his city. A crabbed grouch believes only in himself.

That you should stand by your city and see that she gets due credit for her progressiveness.

That the reason is simple why you should advertise. The greatest number of people read your papers, therefore they offer the greatest opportunity of reaching the buyers.

That by the force of will, the study of the situation and application of common sense, many cities determine the policy of their city, that with hard work, enthusiasm and persistence, they carry out the policy to a successful conclusion. These cities are known as growing cities.

That the increase in productive area that looks to your city, either as its market or source of supplies, means that your city will benefit in proportion to the size of the area developed.

That the men who kill a city are always sorry when it is dead.

Lies Nailed by Editor

Prominent Stockton Editor Tells the Truth About 16 and 20.

The following editorial is reprinted from the San Joaquin Advance, issue of October 25th, 1922.

METROPOLITAN LIFE INS. CO. CIRCULATES LIES ABOUT CHIROPRACTIC AND OSTEOPATHIC BILLS.

The Metropolitan Insurance Co. is circulating pamphlets urging the voters of California to defeat the Chiropractic and Osteopathic Bills. These pamphlets state that drugless practitioners (meaning Chiropractors) would be allowed to administer opium, cocaine, morphine and other habit forming drugs and thereby cause drug addiction to be greatly increased. This statement is a barefaced lie.

Section 7 of the Chiropractic Bill plainly states as follows: "One form of certificate shall be issued by the Board of Chiropractic examiners, which said certificates shall be designated—License to practice Chiropractic—which license shall authorize the holder thereof to practice Chiropractic in the state of California as taught in Chiropractic schools or colleges; and also to use all necessary mechanical and hygienic and sanitary measures incident to the care of the body, BUT shall NOT authorize the practice of medicine, surgery, osteopathy, dentistry or optometry NOR THE USE OF ANY DRUG OR MEDICINE NOW OR HEREFTER INCLUDED IN MATERIA MEDICA."

These same pamphlets also insinuate that if the Chiropractic and Osteopathic bills are passed, the children could not have safe milk, they would get tuberculosis, you would get serious food poison and many would die. Lies and more lies.

What have the Chiropractic and Osteopathic Bills got to do with the State Food Inspector? (Please page Ananias.)

We are inclined to wonder how much the American Medical Association had to pay the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company to make such misleading statements and thereby place themselves in bad repute with the several million advocates of Chiropractic and Osteopathy.

We also wonder why the State Medical Association doesn't do its own lying.

The pamphlet would further have us believe that the creation of a board of Chiropractic examiners and Osteopathic examiners would entail considerable expense to the state. As a matter of fact both bills 16 and 20 plainly state that expenses of said boards shall be paid from the examinations fees.

We detest LIES and LIARS.

Truths in Epigram

There never was a good war, or a bad peace. —Franklin.

Great ideas travel slowly, and for a time noiselessly, as the gods whose feet were shod with wool.—Garfield.

Blessed is the man who has the gift of making friends, for it is one of God's best gifts.—Hughes.

EJECTING THE UNWELCOME GUEST

Suit has been brought against a hotel by reason of the ejection of a guest from the premises. The claim is made that the experience was humiliating. Defendant alleges that conduct of the guest had been annoying, and that it persisted despite several warnings. However, the merits of this specific case need not be considered here. That is a matter for the courts. Nevertheless the action raises a large question of general interest.

There must be some method by which the unruly member of any gathering may be subdued, and when he becomes an actual nuisance, abated. In many resorts on a lower social level than a hotel, there is a functionary designated "bouncer," and his mission, which he executes with zeal, is to bounce. The guest or patron or chance invader who declines to behave, and to abide by the rules of the game, whatever these are, finds himself slithering across the pave and perhaps ends up in gutter. Doubtless the feelings of one thus treated are much ruffled. It is not of record that he subjects the matter to the test of the law.

In public places, or semi-public, there are conventions to be observed as a simple decency. It is not always necessary that regulations be posted in a conspicuous spot, the presumption being that the conduct of ladies and gentlemen does not need to be specified. Into such a place comes a distinct intruder, drunk perhaps, or with the manners of a ruffian. Ask him quietly to depart, and a small "it is at once precipitated. Everybody wants to be rid of him. If he refuses to go, and as a consequence, gets tossed out, possibly with impact against the doorframe, there is no difficulty in understanding where the sympathy of the observer will be, for to the legal status of the parties, the observer does not know, nor much care. But he is grateful for the restoration of peace, as accomplished by the bouncer.

SAVING THE REDWOODS

Lumbermen are said to have agreed hereafter to conduct their operations on the principle of continuous production and maintenance of the forests as a whole. This plan has particular reference to permitting the big trees of California to escape extermination. Forestry is a science, but the destruction of timber has been a blundering and stupid error, ignoring the science wholly. The felling of trees has been done exactly as though there could be no end to the supply. In many sections of the Pacific coast the establishment of sawmills has meant the creation of a wilderness. When such a wilderness has been created the time for doing anything but bemoan the vandalism has passed. Often the soil is of such nature, and so situated, that, once shorn of its protecting trees and undergrowth, it is washed away. Nothing is left but a barren expanse of desolation, to be sterile for all time. Lumbermen seeking out merchantable timber have been utterly careless as to the smaller trees. Often the place where their industry has flourished, when finally abandoned, has been only a blackened and unsightly waste, its comeliness and utility gone forever. Low men of intelligence could have lent themselves to this process of ruin and defacement, is beyond all understanding.

It would be pleasing to record that the slumbering, lumbering consciences had been awakened. Far more probable that they have at last realized the commercial folly of a course so profligate of natural resources. Either they must cease to do business in the old way, or having slain the golden-egg goose, cease to do business at all. However, if they will consent to the saving of the forests, an analysis of their motives may be omitted. By the application of common sense methods, the life of the growing timber could be indefinitely prolonged. In Europe an intelligent system is in vogue. Why not here?

CHIEF JUSTICE SHAW'S OPINION

Chief Justice Lucian Shaw, venerable, efficient during a long period of service; retiring voluntarily respected by bench and bar and the people of the state, still has concern for the tribunal with which he has so long been identified. It is natural that his words should be given weight. He knows the character, the ability and the devotion of his associates.

The chief justice has issued a statement in which he says there are two candidates whom it is very essential to retain in office. These are Associate Justices William A. Sloane and Charles A. Shurtleff. He extols their learning and their faithfulness to duty. He adds: "Speaking from my experience with them I desire to say that they cannot well be spared, that their return is a necessity, and I see no reason why any voter should favor any change in the personnel of the court at this time."

Such words as these, considering the circumstances in which they are given out, and the eminence of the speaker, must have great weight. The gentlemen mentioned are not conducting campaigns. They have neither the time nor the financial means, nor do they seem to think that campaigning, the face-to-face appeal to individuals for support, could be regarded as comporting with the dignity of the places they fill, and which they have earned the right to retain.

This end of the state, accepting the Shaw estimates as to both, is particularly interested in Justice Sloane. He is the only candidate from the south. Were Sloane to be defeated Chief Justice Wilbur would be the sole representative of this section on the supreme bench. With the election of Sloane the south would have two out of seven members. However, the sectional plea, logical and strong as it is, is not the chief reason behind the support of Justice Sloane. He has made splendid records as superior judge, on the appellate bench, and finally in the highest court of the state. He is highly educated in the law, experienced as a jurist; admirable in every relation in life. His defeat would be a loss to California and a blow to the pride of the south.

CAN BE SPEEDY

In Michigan a man was arrested a few hours after an attack on a helpless girl. Twelve hours after that he was on his way to the penitentiary under sentence of forty years. The judge indicated regret that the sentence could not be for life. However, forty years may be enough to answer the purpose. The prisoner in this instance had confessed. Had he declined to do so, there would have been no difficulty in establishing his guilt, except as his lawyers might have interfered with justice. There were indications that if the court processes showed any tendency to delay, the public would take the matter of punishment into its own hands. To avoid more violence, by depriving the mob spirit of any excuse for activity, the trial was speeded up to a proper conclusion.

One value attaching to this episode is the showing it makes of the ability of a court to punish crime promptly. Had the usual course been followed, the prisoner would have been held for weeks before coming to trial, and then the first move of his attorney probably would have been to get further delay. In ordinary circumstances the matter would have dragged on for months, because the whole effort of the defense would have been to retard it.

Only a few days ago this paper printed an editorial touching this important subject. It rested on the observations of a justice of the Ohio supreme court, and was, indeed, largely the words of that distinguished man. Perhaps his wise counsel had been noted in Michigan also.

The story comes from Boston that an estate there is about to go to the heirs after having been held in trust for eighteen years. The beneficiaries under the trust had been the pets of a decedent, an old woman. They consisted of parrot, dogs, canaries, cockatoo and cat. The last creature, has just relinquished the last of its nine lives, and after the lapse of many years, the money tied up so foolishly may be put to legitimate use. Ordinarily there is no hesitancy in setting aside a will the terms of which indicate the unsoundness of the testator's mind. Leaving a fortune for the maintenance of cats and dogs easily might be construed into a symptom of insanity.

The laborites of the state have been astounded by the exhibition of sentiment hostile to them. They seem to have lost much of their hold on the political situation. Their defeat came as a surprise also to the forces arrayed against them.

Italian Fascists probably established a precedent when they administered castor oil to a mass of truculent communists. Perhaps they were wise enough to know that the seat of the trouble was indigestion. Castor oil is supposed to alleviate certain disorders, but as a remedy for the disorders of anarchy it is novel. Disagreeable to the taste, it is possible that it may prove more effective than a dose of leaden pellets.

Arrest of a school teacher of Burbank on the charge of highway robbery must be regarded as almost unique in the experience of pedagogy. It does not appear that such type of crime could appeal to one in any manner fit to have the training of the young. The presumption of innocence in this case is likely to have a real meaning.

Statistics show that half the coal supply of the world is in the United States. When this fact is considered there seems no shadow of legitimate excuse for shortage of supply or excessive cost. It is strange if the intelligence that directs traffic cannot devise a method of quick and adequate distribution.

New Jersey is making itself ridiculous in permitting its campaign to be waged on the question of prohibition, since there is no such question. There was once. The entire country took it up and made the answer. Any observant citizen, not illiterate, may see the answer in the form of a constitutional amendment.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

"Don't" Discussed
Mrs. E. C. G., Oak Park, Ill.: "I noticed C. C. K. makes a correction in the use of 'don't.' I have been out of school for 25 years, but I am sure we were taught to never use 'don't' in any place that 'do not' could not be used, as 'don't' is a contraction of 'do not.' One could not say 'If it do not rain I'll come' or 'If he do not come by 10 I'll leave.' Will you kindly put me right if I am wrong?" Answer: Careful speech in the past has called for the use of the subjunctive mode when expressing a condition that is uncertain or contrary to fact; as, "If he have time to do the work engaged him." The indicative mode is gradually taking the place of the subjunctive. One says in good taste, "If it doesn't rain I will come," for doesn't is properly used in the indicative made in a conditional clause. In like manner it is correct to say "If he does not come by ten I will leave," does come being in the indicative mode in a conditional clause.

Drop "Charges"

Gertrude M. Clancy, New York City: "Would thank you to kindly advise which of the following sentences are correct: 'Attached find bill for being charged performed by the New York Central Railroad.' 'Attached find bill for being performed by the New York Central Railroad.' Answer: Miss Clancy writes to 'kindly advise,' thus continuing to pile up the supply of split infinitives. Another suggestion is that a sentence should have a subject; as I would thank—. The second of the two illustrations is the better. The being was performed, not the charges. Correct: Which of the following sentences is correct?"

Clearness Lacking
P. B., New York City: "Is the following correct: 'and that no organization shall become powerful enough to persuade everybody from ceasing to operate them?' Is 'from ceasing' used correctly or does it give the sentence the meaning not to cease?" Answer: Probably the intention was to say "and that no organization shall become powerful enough to persuade everybody to cease operating them."

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

Being president. A laudable ambition. Most of the alert boys in school have it. It is pointed out to them as the great goal of achievement.

Open to any person born in the United States. And who has reached a certain age.

It colors our school days. The possibility of it. We read of Washington and Jefferson and Madison and Lincoln.

Then we have thrills of pride in their achievement as Americans. And wonder if by any chance that distinction may come to us.

For it is a high place. Perhaps today the highest in the world. The President of the United States has more influence perhaps in the affairs of the world than any other person but one. That exception being the prime minister of Great Britain.

Who is not elected.

But with position comes responsibility. And the presidency of the United States assumed a different aspect when the goal has been achieved.

The glamor and distinction of the place become secondary. The enormous obligation and responsibility take first place.

For there is legislation to shape and direct. Justice to be done. International difficulties to settle. Treaties to make.

All things fraught with tremendous responsibility. Making for the happiness or unhappiness of millions of people.

There are momentous questions to decide. Things that may make for peace or war. And then there is the vast number of appointments to make.

Departmental matters to consider. Until the strength of any man, however strong he may be, is sapped in the presidency.

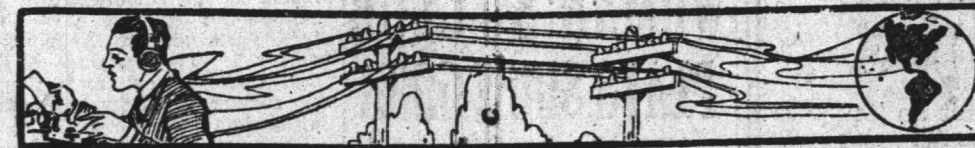

And yet men will seek the place. Knowing the tremendous weight of responsibility.

Knowing perhaps that many years must be lived in four. That the quiet and peace of us-all life must be forsaken.

For the President is the official head of all the people. The light of publicity beats fiercely upon him.

The storm of criticism is often fierce and bitter. And the presidencies of the last fifty years have been weighted with responsibility. Fraught with danger of life even.

The President. High official indeed. But his days involved with difficulty. His nights often sleepless with concern. His brow lined with the lines of care. His shoulders coming to stoop a bit. God strengthen him.

Songs of the Poets

In After Days—By Austin Dobson (1840—)

In after days when grasses high
O'er-top the stone where I shall lie,
Though ill or well the world adjust
My slender claim to honor'd dust,
I shall not question nor reply.

I shall not see the morning sky;
I shall not hear the night-wind sigh;

I shall be mute, as all men must
In after days!

But yet, now living, fain would I
That some one then should testify,
Saying—"He held his pen in trust
To Art, not serving time or lust."
Will none? Then let my memory die
In after days!

THE COST OF NIAGARA

By DR. EDWIN E. SLOSSON

If a man stood on the banks of the Mississippi at the time of the spring freshet, when the stream was carrying down to the Gulf fences, pigs, chickens, furniture and, occasionally, a house, he would be seriously concerned over the loss of the property of those who had so little to lose, and perhaps exert himself to save some of it; but the continuous calamity of Niagara aroused in him no feelings of a nature to mar his enjoyment. He shows the same aesthetic appreciation of a sublime and beautiful spectacle and the same indifference to its cost as Nero at the burning of Rome.

It is easier to comprehend how much it is costing us to keep up Niagara as a spectacle if we put the waste in concrete terms. Various engineers have estimated that it would be possible to get from Niagara Falls over 5,000,000 more horse-power than is now utilized. In one of the large steam plants of New York City the cost of power is $50 a year per horse-power. Taking these figures as sufficiently close for our purpose the water that goes over the Falls represents the annihilation of potential wealth at the rate of some $250,000,000 a year or nearly $350,000 an hour.

We are told that there are some millions of people in poverty and poorly nourished in this country, yet here is wasted the equivalent of 250,000,000 of bread an hour.

We may see with our mind's eye 600,000 nice fresh eggs dropping over the precipice every hour and making a gigantic omelet in the whirlpool. If calico were continuously pouring from the looms in a stream 4,000 feet wide like Niagara River it would represent the same destruction of property. If a Carnegie Library were held under the spot it would be filled with good books in an hour or two. Or we can imagine a big department store floating down from Lake Erie every day and smashing its varied contents on the rocks 160 feet below. That would be an exceedingly interesting and diverting spectacle, quite as attractive to the crowd as the present, and no more expensive to maintain. Yet some people might object to that on the ground of extravagance who now object to the utilization of the power of the falling water.

It might not be supposed that I am insensible to the beauties of nature or ignore their aesthetic and cultural value. On the contrary, I would wish to enhance the interest and impressiveness of Niagara Falls by making it a rarer spectacle. The reason why people fail to appreciate the beauty of the clouds, of the sunset and of the landscape from their windows is because these are so common. If a bouquet of fireworks were shot off at eight o'clock every night we would not care to look at them. Of course the Falls would be turned on for all legal holidays and as often as there was sufficient demand for it. On such occasions those who wished to go down the current in barrels could enjoy their favorite sport. Weddings would naturally be arranged to come off at the time when the Falls fell. At the hours when the water was prohibited from making a run on the banks, rambles over the eroded rocks and worn channels would be of great interest to the geologist and the tourist. Couples and groups could be photographed at the Falls then, as they are now, by posing them in front of a painted screen.

Many more people would see Niagara and their enjoyment of it would be much greater if it could be seen only on fete days. Thinking they could see it any time, thousands of people have neglected it in favor of some passing show.

Of course, there is something impressive in the thought that the flood pours thundering into the abyss all of the time, regardless of sight-seers. But if one has not sufficient imagination to find an equal emotional value in the contemplation of the varied life and industry it supports as it pours through the penstocks and spins the turbines he can swell with satisfaction on the thought of the millions of years when it was of no use to anybody.

In 1893, when Lord Kelvin stood on the brink of Niagara, he was not so much impressed by its grandeur as he was saddened by the sight of such an enormous waste of power, and he expressed the hope that he would live to see it all utilized, an observation which was much ridiculed at the time by hard-hearted sentimentalists and unimaginative poets. To them Niagara was a mere spectacle, but to the great scientist, who had devoted his life to the study and exposition of the law of the conservation of energy, it was much more. His prophetic eye could see the poor who might be enriched, the homes that could be made happy, the hungry who might be fed, the naked who might be clothed, and the tolling millions who might be relieved of their burdens by the water dashing upon the rocks below for the amusement of idle tourists.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Occasionally a baby is abandoned. This is in itself a singular fact. It seems to be an ignoring of one of the basic laws of nature. Nevertheless, babies are abandoned. Then comes to light another fact no less strange. It is that there is a demand for the infant. Many come rushing with eager proffers of a home. The officials into whose hands the little one has been placed, often are at a loss as to the choice to make among many excellent opportunities.

Solicitations do not indicate in each case that the home in which the waif is wanted, is childless. Sometimes a good man and woman, with several growing heirs, are moved by sympathy. They cannot bear the thought that any innocent should be deprived of the care that is the right of every human being born. They are willing to add to their own burden, perhaps already not light.

Other applicants have been denied a living object on which to bestow their joint affection is necessary. In the absence of it, life lacks much of completeness. They are anxious to play at parenthood, and so earnest are they, that the play becomes real. The adopted child may grow up unaware that the father and mother, lavish in love, have exercised the benign privilege of pretending.

Then there are women, unmarried, perhaps beyond the age at which marriage is probable, who have to the full, the mother instinct. They would have been good mothers, and given the chance, they are good foster-mothers.

So, often the abandoned baby is permitted to develop in an atmosphere of sweetness, having advantages far superior to those marking the environment into which, unwelcomed, it had come.

Odd enough seems to be the statement that the Arctic ocean is becoming warmer. It is said that the temperature is getting too high for the comfort of the seal. It would be regarded as calamitous were the creature to reach the point of shedding its fur. Or if it clings to the fur, and has to seek a more frigid habitat, whither shall it wander? There is no report that the Antarctic is changing its habits, but that is a long distance from the northern seal.

Fishermen report varieties of fish that never before appeared in Arctic waters. They say that vast masses of ice have disappeared. Something must be happening at the foot of the aurora. Perhaps it would be well to send Doc Cook to see about it.

Once long ago a lot of ice came along this way, scratching the face of nature rudely. Some of the scars were indelible. It is to be hoped that the glaciers and such things are not about to become nomadic again.

Wilhelm can't go on a honeymoon, but he will have the comfort of seclusion as nearly complete as he desires. No unwelcome guest will be able to get inside the palings. Therefore there will be safety for the couple as to the showering of rice, and fusillades of old shoes. Neither will they need a cab, and so the pleasure of adorning the vehicle with the legend "Just Married" will be denied to jesting friends.

If anybody ever knew a revolution so quiet and so immediately effective as that just occurring in Italy, there must have been neglect to record the fact. One day Italy was torn by so many contending factions that the world wondered what would happen next, but felt sure it would be violent.

Then in a day, owing to theadroitness of a lot of citizens, shrewd men of high purpose, Italy was born anew. The infant Italy is but a few days old, but its lustiness is evident.

The vote of southern California will elect Justice Sloane to another term on the supreme bench. This is a prediction based on several grounds. The idea that six out of seven justices should be from the north, is not pleasing. Such would be the condition were Sloane defeated. The south simply will decline to let this happen. It must roll up a big majority, however, for there will be a heavy vote in the north to overcome. Sectional pride will have something to do with the decision, and this end of the state admits possession of a fair share of such pride.

The remaining reasons are important. They include the ability, high character and faithful service of the southern candidate.

A judge in Los Angeles gave an offender, six months in jail, but suspended sentence on condition that the man get out of town in three hours and stay out for a minimum of twenty-five years. The plan seemed to work all right, as the chap hit only the high places as he made for the city limits. The fact that it worked is vindication enough. However, it is improbable that the judge could enforce the terms by any authority to be found in a statute book.

On the first page of a daily of recent issue all but one column was given to the recital of crime, or to treatment of the trials that had resulted from particularly repellent crimes. The remaining column was Brisbane's, and it is fair to say, the best on the page.

Ford is said to have sold $60,000,000 worth of cars in October. According to some statisticians the saturation point in the automobile trade was to have been reached before now. It seems to have receded to an indefinite distance. It may never be attained. The process would be simple enough if an automobile were everlastingly but as "ancient and as things fade like a dream" no mere contraption of wheels, and with metal innards, can be expected to stand the strain eternally.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

There is no doubt that I am of a fat habit of body. Feed me a bird seed and I put on a chop. Apple pie a la mode, persisted in for a week, would enrich my tailor. Experience has taught me that a moderation will save me some fattening—some, I said—but that a starvation diet ruins me.

"And I hate to go to a gym and work," I told my ex-fat friend the other day.

I took it for granted that he had been going to a gym. He used to be a corpulent slob, to be as mild and kindly as I can be about him, and now he has a waist like a $20 a week chorus man, and that is the most perfectly lovely male waist there is. He said that he had not been going to a gym. He had made his curves over into the new 1923 convexities by going through motions every morning.

"And I don't diet, you epicurean mutt," said he gleefully. "I eat what I want to eat. Only maybe not quite as much."

I said that I could never do it. My will power isn't strong enough, I said. I might bend up and down forty times one morning on the privacy of the bedroom rug, but the next morning I would not bend up and down at all. I said that I hated all forms of physical exercise. To sharpen a lead pencil, I said, required the entire strength of my character. My ex-fat friend said that I did not know what I was talking about.

"If you will do the morning exercises religiously for a week," said he, "you will find that you like to do them. You will go back to them with beaucoup pep each morning after. As your muscles begin to harden up and that heavy, pendulous, down-pulling overhang disappears you will begin to be proud of yourself. Now—"

"Listen, mutt! Have you nerve power, enough and will power enough and courage enough to do these exercises faithfully and properly each morning for one week? Or are you just a poor, stall-fed, fat-awalloved weakling who cannot compel himself to do even a little work?"

So I said that I would do them for a week. Just to show my ex-fat friend that he was dead wrong and that I could never learn to like exercising. But he was right. By thunder! I got out on my office rug at spare moments during the day now and bob up and down. It may be nuttiness, but I like it.

Frank Chance has consented to act as president of the National Baseball college to be established in Burbank. Word to that effect came to R. W. Colburn, secretary and treasurer of the new institution, yesterday from Jesse W. Orndorff, who has been managing some of the details of the organization.

All of the ball players interested in the project here have been trying for some time to get Chance to consent to become president of the college, because, according to the men, he is best suited for the position.

Scott Wolf, who has applied for the first professorship in the new baseball college has been personally acquainted with Frank Chance, and says of him:

"Anything that Frank Chance is behind stands for good, clean baseball."

Frank Chance has been playing baseball for years and has been connected with major leagues in the east and with the Pacific coast league in past years.

As president of the new institution he will probably locate here permanently.

HELPING JESUS TO RAISE THE DEAD, IS COLE'S TOPIC

At the Glendale Central Christian Church Sunday Rev. C. A. Cole's subject was "Helping Jesus Raise the Dead," based upon the raising of Lazarus at Bethany. Referring to Jesus' command "Take ye away the stone," the speaker said that every miracle where it was possible to enlist the human aid, Jesus did so. "He could have but spoken the word and the stone would have rolled back from the door of the tomb," was the comment, "but he said to the men standing by, 'Roll ye away the stone.' He required the blind man to go wash in the pool of Siliam and the palsied man to take up his bed and walk. From these incidents and many others get the thought, that is emphasized time after time in the bible that God does not do for men what men can do for themselves.

"Friends, did you ever stop to think how much God depends on human help and co-operation? God requires his people to take away certain hindrances, such as embarrassment, false pride, indifference and such."

The evening sermon was on the theme, "A Lost Christ," and was based on the incident of the boy Jesus being lost by his mother on the first visit to Jerusalem. Just so may the Christian lose Christ from his life if he is not eternally watchful, was the thought of the speaker.

A highly enjoyable feature of the evening service was a solo by Patrolman Epps.

BRUSH FIRE BURNS AREA EAST OF UNIVERSAL

About a Hundred Men Battle With Flames for Hours

The brush fire which broke out just to the east of Universal City, yesterday morning, burned over an area of fifty or seventy-five acres, and owners of large homes in the vicinity had workmen building fire-breaks around their property. The cause of the fire is unknown.

About a hundred men battled the flames for hours and fire departments from Los Angeles sent men to assist in the work.

The men used tree branches and wet sacks in their fight. On the southern side of the hill, where the flames were finally checked, a long string of fire fighters gradually retreated down the steep hillside, through cactus and brush to the very edge of the Pacific Electric tracks, where the fire finally stopped.

Section gangs, and laborers in the vicinity, were drafted for work. Thick clouds of smoke rolled up from the southern side of the hill and a number of Burbank people feared that the fire was in the immediate vicinity of Universal City.

The fire broke out shortly after 10 o'clock. The quick work of men in the vicinity confined the flames to a small area.

DETROIT AND PITTSBURG IN 1923

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Harry Heilmann, American league batting champion of 1921, home run hitter, first class and one of the best outfielders in the league, fears that his baseball career has ended, according to word received from California.

Late in the past season, Heilmann fell in a game between the Detroit Tigers and the Washington Senators and broke his collarbone. He went back to Detroit where he had to have the bone broken and reset. At this time it was found that his shoulder also was broken.

In a letter to his brother, Dick Heilmann, in San Francisco, the Tiger star declared his shoulder was in such bad shape that he feared he would never be able to play again.

As they finished the season the Tigers looked like a real good prospect for the 1923 pennant race and the loss of Heilmann, one of the main works of the team, would be a severe blow to Ty Cobb's chances of grabbing the pennant.

Cobb is rebuilding the team and the results he achieved in the last race was one of the big surprises of the season.

If the deal should go through with the Boston Red Sox by which the Tigers would get Derrill Pratt and "Rip" Collins, they ought to be one of the favorites for the championship next year.

After they finally got going past the half-post in the race the Pittsburgh Pirates looked like the best team in the National league.

Pittsburgh fans felt if Bill McKechnie had been placed in charge of the team at the start of the season that the Pirates would have won the pennant.

McKechnie is going right out after the championship next spring, and he plans to make several changes in the team. He wants a couple of pitchers and a new infielder and another right-handed outfielder.

Horace Ford, the Boston Brave star, may be in a Pittsburgh uniform if a deal can be made this winter, it is understood.

McKechnie is said to be willing to part with Barnhart, Hamilton, Yellow Horse, Brown, Rohwer, Collins and Lovelace intruders. Cooper and Morrison are said to be the only pitchers that are sure of their jobs for next year.

Considering the fact that the Pirates did not begin to work properly until Walter Schmidt deserted the holdout ranks, it is rather unusual to hear talk from Pittsburgh that Barney Dreyfuss wants to get rid of him. Schmidt is one of the finest catchers in the league but he and his boss cannot agree on what salary he is worth.

Just before the close of the season Schmidt wrote to a friend in California that he was going to manage the team in 1923 and it gave rise to reports that he wasn't friendly with McKechnie. Previous happenings do not support the story, however, as one of McKechnie's first acts as manager of the team was to insist upon meeting Schmidt's terms and get him back in the game.

VOTE "NO" ON No. 24

ONE REASON

Your banker, realtor, tax expert and business friend today can advise you as to your rights under notes, mortgages, leases, bills of sale, bank accounts, income tax returns, joint tenancies, etc. The Bar Association says this is practicing law.

Vote "No" on Number 24

BECAUSE

The Lawyers' Bill (No. 24) forces the public to pay more lawyers' fees.

The bankers and business men of California are willing to continue their practice of giving you simple legal advice in your business affairs.

This Bill would stop this and add expense to you by forcing you to consult lawyers.

This Bill makes a crime of a service to the public, and prevents the people from receiving it.

This Bill was devised by lawyers to benefit lawyers. People have long been accustomed freely to consult their business friends on business law as they require it.

ANOTHER REASON

Do you want to be deprived from receiving this service when you ask for it? Your vote "No" on Proposition No. 24 means that you may retain this service freely. Your vote for No. 24 will mean to you added expense, inconvenience, and will send your business friend to jail for serving you at your own request.
